

Republic of Latvia

Rating report

Rating rationale

Sound institutions: Latvia's effective policymaking is anchored by its euro area membership, which ensures a robust framework for fiscal and economic policy. Its EU and NATO memberships provide robust mitigants to external security risks in the present context of the heightened geopolitical tensions.

Strong economic fundamentals despite Russia-Ukraine war: After expanding by 2.9% in 2023, the Latvian economy contracted by 0.4% last year. We forecast growth to improve gradually, to 1.2% in 2025 and 2.5% in 2026. Robust public and private investment trends support medium-term growth prospects, while improvements in private consumption support growth in the near-term. The medium-term growth potential remains robust, estimated at 2.0-2.5% annually, underpinned by favourable investment dynamics and continued productivity gains.

Solid fiscal position: The shocks related to Covid-19 and the escalation of Russia's war against the Ukraine have resulted in a deterioration in fiscal metrics since 2020. The fiscal deficit stood at 1.8% of GDP in 2024, down 0.6 percentage points from the previous year driven by stronger-than-anticipated revenue growth. It is forecast to rise to 3.0% of GDP on average over 2025-27 before gradually narrowing to about 2.5% over subsequent years, primarily reflecting ambitious defence expenditure commitments. Public debt as a share of GDP is set to rise from 47.8% in 2025 to remain on a gradual upwards trend, up to around 50% by 2030, thus remaining among the lowest in the euro area.

Rating challenges: i) moderate income levels and exposure to external shocks, given the Latvian economy's small size and openness; and ii) unfavourable demographic trends, persistent labour shortages and long-term fiscal pressures.
