

Italian NPL collections: notes sales exceed judicial proceeds for first time

Scope
Ratings

Collections on Italian NPL securitisations fell 35% between July and August, following the pattern seen in the same months of 2020 and 2021. August 2022 volumes were 61% higher than August 2021 mainly because of proceeds from one large note sale.

As we noted in our report last October, the reason for the fall in month-on-month collections between July and August each year is Italy's nationwide summer vacation, when business activity drops significantly and court activity is limited to the most urgent proceedings. Once again, both factors affected the sector's performance – regardless of servicers' recovery strategies.

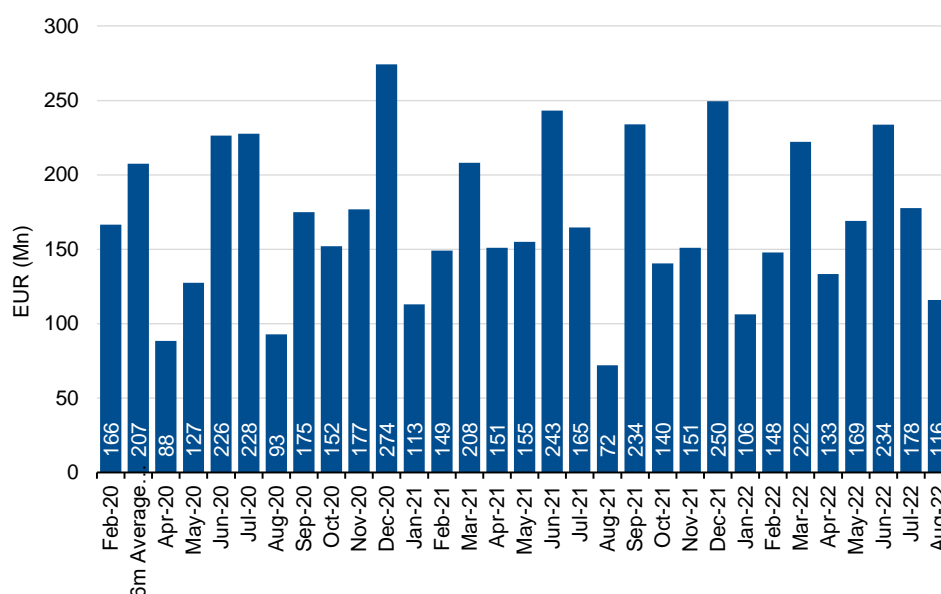

Collections in August 2022 were 61% higher than August 2021 volumes, however, due mainly to high proceeds from note sales, which accounted for 41% of total collections – above judicial (39%) and extra-judicial (20%) recoveries. Indeed, August 2022 saw note sales proceeds surpass proceeds from judicial strategies in volume terms for the first time. The sale of EUR 42m of credit notes in the Leviticus transaction represented almost all note sales for the universe of 20 transactions considered for the month in question (see Figure 8). As such, this could be considered an outlier.

That said, collections from credit sales in the first eight months of this year were 106% higher than the same period of 2020 and 42% higher than 2021 proceeds. Credit sales so far represent 12% of total collections in 2022.

The overall volume of collections for the January-August 2022 period has remained relatively stable since 2020. They are 4% higher this year than they were in 2021 and 6% higher than in 2020.

This report shows the performance of a static universe of Italian NPL securitisations originated pre-Covid and rated by Scope. The report is based on monthly servicing reports available to August 2022.

Footnotes:

Figure 1: Six-month average (pre-Covid) refers to the average volumes registered between September 2019 and February 2020.

Figure 2: The variations in total proceeds (%) were computed comparing August 2022 collections with average volumes pre-Covid (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only considering those transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 3: The % variation is computed comparing August 2022 collections with average volumes registered pre-Covid (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos.19,12 and for the period October 2019 to February 2020 for transaction no. 22.

Figure 4: The variation in judicial proceeds (%) was computed comparing August 2022 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only for transactions showing a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering those transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 5: DPO refers to discounted payoff strategies. The decrease and increase in DPO proceeds (%) were computed comparing August 2022 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only considering transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation. Transaction no. 19 does not report DPOs as collection type.

Figure 6: The decrease and increase in note sales proceeds (%) were computed comparing August 2022 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only considering transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 8: "Pre-Covid (6m Avg.*)" refers to the average pre-Covid collections registered between September 2019 and February 2020. The term extra-judicial strategy refers to both DPO and note sales strategies.

Figure 9: "Pre-Covid (6m Avg.*)" refers to average pre-Covid collections between September 2019 and February 2020. The term extra-judicial strategy refers to both DPO and note sales strategies.
