Italian NPL collections: lower extrajudicial proceeds drag 2023 volumes down

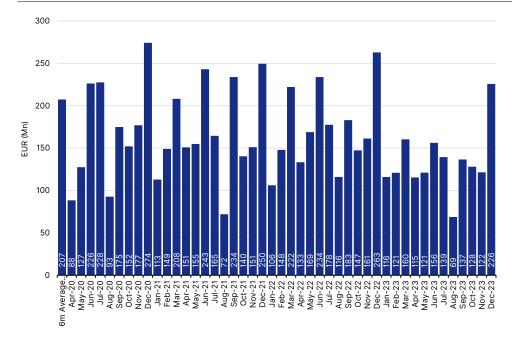

December Italian NPL collections increased by 87% month-on-month, coming in at EUR 226m vs. EUR 121m. But they were still 12% below the average of December 2021 and 2022 (EUR 250m and EUR 263m, respectively).

Collections for the whole of 2023 fell by 21% against the previous two-year average. The reduction was mainly driven by lower extrajudicial proceeds: DPOs fell 36% and note sales 38%. Since the seasoning of the transactions in our sample is high (5.4 years), the decline in DPOs is likely explained by the fact that servicers mainly adopt this strategy at the beginning of transaction lifecycles. Note sales are strongly influenced by demand so are pursued on a portfolio-by-portfolio basis, making volumes volatile.

During the pandemic when the courts were closed, servicers relied on alternative collection methods (DPOs and note sales). But as the courts are once again working as before, Italian NPL servicers favour the judicial approach that in general grants higher collections even though it takes longer. In addition, the rise in interest rates and the stressed macroeconomic scenario has reduced the margin on extrajudicial strategies.

This report shows the performance of a static universe of Italian NPL securitisations originated pre-Covid and rated by Scope. The report is based on monthly servicing reports available to December 2023.

Footnotes:

Figure 1: Six-month average (pre-Covid) refers to the average volumes registered between September 2019 and February 2020.

Figure 2: The variations in total proceeds (%) were computed comparing December 2023 collections with average volumes pre-Covid (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only considering those transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 3: The % variation is computed comparing December 2023 collections with average volumes registered pre-Covid (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos.19,12 and for the period October 2019 to February 2020 for transaction no. 22.

Figure 4: The variation in judicial proceeds (%) was computed comparing December 2023 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19. The average drop was computed only for transactions showing a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering those transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 5: DPO refers to discounted payoff strategies. The decrease and increase in DPO proceeds (%) were computed comparing October 2023 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19, The average drop was computed only considering transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation. Transaction no. 19 does not report DPOs as collection type.

Figure 6: The decrease and increase in note sales proceeds (%) were computed comparing December 2023 collections with average pre-Covid volumes (i.e. the six months between September 2019 and February 2020). Based on their closing dates, the average was computed only for December 2019 to February 2020 for transactions nos. 12 and 19, The average drop was computed only considering transactions with a negative variation, while the average increase was computed only considering transactions with a positive variation.

Figure 8: "Pre-Covid (6m Avg.)" refers to the average pre-Covid collections registered between September 2019 and February 2020. The term extra-judicial strategy refers to both DPO and note sales strategies.

Figure 9: "Pre-Covid (6m Avg.)" refers to average pre-Covid collections between September 2019 and February 2020. The term extra-judicial strategy refers to both DPO and note sales strategies.
